DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to because all rectangular boxes in Fig. 10, 11 and 12 should be labeled. See 37 CFR 1.83. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it should be in a separate page. The abstract provided is that for the corresponding PCT application. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

4. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The specification (line 7, page 2) should not make reference to the claims.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fuderer et al. P.N. 7,027,854 (Fuderer) in view of Murphy et al. P.N. 6,294,915. (Murphy).

Fuderer discloses a method for determining the position of a microcoil in a MRI apparatus. Applicant's attention is directed to Fig. 2a, 2b and 5 and corresponding description. To determine the position of the microcoil or antenna 6 the receiver antenna is employed to acquire magnetic resonance signals from an object 5 to be examined, and a non-selective RF excitation (7, 7a, 7b) is applied followed by at least one temporary magnetic gradient field (8, 10, 11) to generate a receiver response signal from the receiver antenna 6. One of the purposes of determining the position of antenna

6 is to adjust automatically the FOV as described for example in lines 19-20 of col. 5 and lines 60-62 of the same column.

The only difference between the prior art as represented by Fuderer and the claims at issue, is that Fuderer is silent about moving the patient or object to be examined in accordance with an adjusted FOV. This step however, would have been obvious to the artisan of ordinary skill in the art in view of Murphy. Murphy teaches (see abstract of the disclosure) moving a patient to make for example, a FOV coincide with a magnets isocenter. Note that Fuderer contemplates the use of "synergy" coils.

7. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Computer programs are non-statutory. See MPEP (IV). The use of the language "A computer readable medium encoded with a computer program" is suggested.

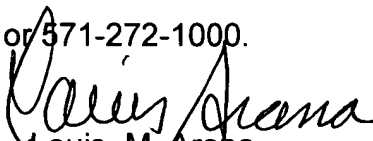

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Dumoulin and Bornert et al. disclose methods for localizing coils in MR. Note the abstract of each disclosure. Note in particular the pulse sequence of Dumoulin using a non-selective RF pulse.
